Fabric Requirements

For this interesting design, one of my grandchildren asked why I named it like I did. I explained why and she said that it is well named… that is a great clue to help you with choosing your colours. This design is set on point and designed as a rectangle. There are patterns within patterns in the overall design. This one is just too much fun.

The four fabrics we will use need to have heaps of contrast, yet still compliment each other really well. There is not one fabric that sticks out more than the others although I would say the darkest fabric you choose would be the background. We will also use this fabric in the border. I usually make notes on the design page I print out to make the requirements from. The page literally says, "four fabrics, designed monochrome 4 shades of blue, the sky's the limit". Not much to go on, I know, but truly, you can use anything in any of the positions as long as there is contrast between the four fabrics. We will need to see a 3-D or "shading" effect, so keep that in mind. I will call them BACKGROUND 1, BACKGROUND 2, ACCENT, ACCENT CONTRAST. I am not even going to tell you to use a dark (like I did) in the BACKGROUND 1 position, you can easily use any hue here.

I am offering two block sizes 9" and 12". I am also offering a partially pieced border with a frame (to see "through" the looking glass) border as well. The binding is also included in the requirements. ALL borders and binding are included here. You don't have to add the borders I did! Your choice from start to finish! Your size ranges are given in the chart.

	9" blocks 51" x 64" to 67" x 80"	12" blocks 68" x 85" to 84" x 100"
BACKGROUND 1	3-3/4 yards	4-3/4 yards
BACKGROUND 2	1-1/4 yards	2 yards
ACCENT	1-3/4 yards	2-1/4 yards
*ACCENT CONTRAST	1-1/4 yards	1-1/4 yards

Binding amounts included here.*
